

SCFBio User Responsibility Form

The Supercomputing Facility for Bioinformatics & Computational Biology at IIT Delhi is committed towards the scientific community in providing state of the art high performance computing environment along with necessary tools to explore the new frontiers in Bioinformatics & Computational Biology. The resources and facilities provided by SCFBio are geared to cater for specific scientific research work in life science area only. Understandably the resources at SCFBio are critical and limited. To provide an optimum working environment enabling maximum sharing of resources, the SCFBio team is constantly developing & adopting better operational strategies. It is therefore expected that users play a constructive role ensuring a responsible usage conduct of the resources provided by SCFBio. Failure to use these resources properly may result in various penalties, from suspension/revocation to legal actions.
